DAVE

We Owe It All To "YOU"

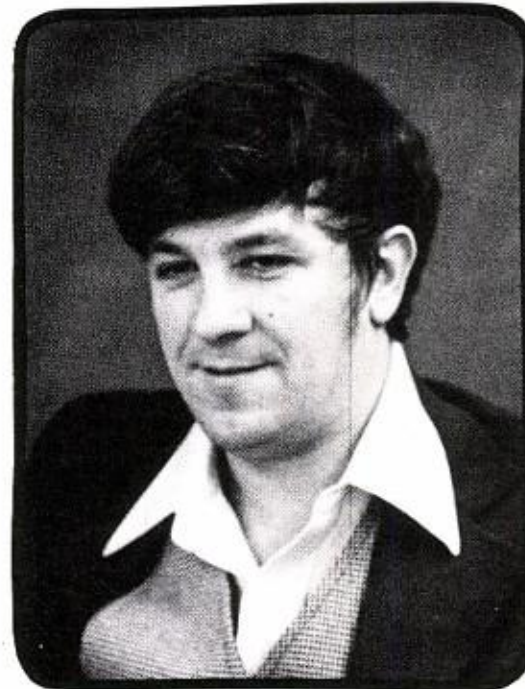

Although many people have wished many things upon the graduating class, the blessings of one man will always remain in our minds.

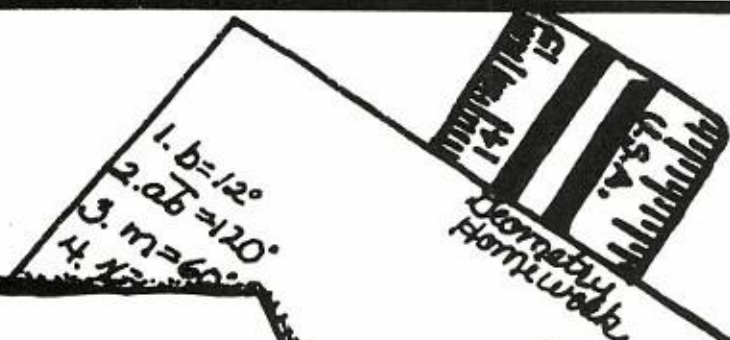

Four years ago, we were his first class at Slatington High. He often handed out advice to other people; but he always followed the advice himself. For example, his advice to the senior class was, "To live happily you must have an unquenchable desire to give of yourself-to be unselfish."

Even though he was a new teacher, he jumped right into the middle of many school activities: football, student council, the talent show, curriculum and faculty committees, and our class. He put a little bit of himself into every aspect of high school life. He did not do this for the personal glory because much of his work received little or no credit. Maybe he did it because he cares about the student body; maybe he did it because he cares for each person as an individual, more than just a part of the system.

Because this teacher began his years at SHS with us and grew side by side with us; because he unselfishly gave of himself; because he cares for every individual in our class; we, as the class of 1978, wanted to show him our deep gratitude. And the most appropriate thing we can do is to dedicate our yearbook, our lifelong collection of high school memories and happiness, to him, Mr. David Papay.

Jazz.....Band

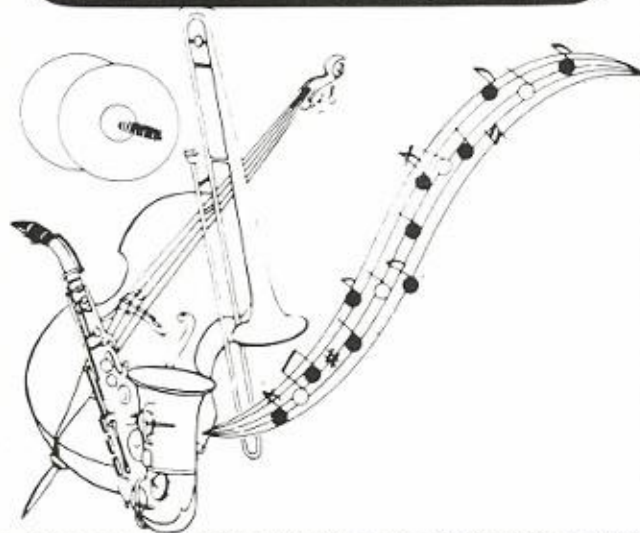

Under the leadership of Mr. George Fennell, our jazz band performed in various activities throughout the school year. Although they participated in competitions, concerts, and a television taping, their performance here at SHS during the Talent Show left an impression on every student; for they proved that their music was not all that terrible. Their long hours of practice paid off when the students gave them a warm reception.

1978 was a year filled with beginnings and successes for the chorus. Director Larry Williams put dance steps and hand motions into the annual spring concert to add an informal atmosphere, with pianists Jenny Farber, Brenda Lobach, and Colleen and Debbie Peters accompanying the singers. Besides being one of the largest choruses ever at Slatington, the group also formed the Youth Choir, a smaller, independent group that performed for churches and Sunday schools. While also doing some of the chorus selections, the choir added new and traditional religious music to its repertoire. The hard work also paid off for the many singers who attended County Chorus: Steve Ruch, Greg Shiner, Jenny Farber, Marc Benninger, Alan Beil, Jeff Shuey, Jane Smith, Cathy Roth, RoseAnn Strohl, Chris Cunfer, Suzette Nanovic, Kathy Kistler, Sharon Rowlands, Ellen Yenser, Charlene Snyder, and Zoe-Anne Rex. Mr. Williams was especially happy that the 1978 County Chorus was held in the SHS auditorium. After counties, more work led to district chorus and eventually to regionals for 3 Slatington singers: Chris Cunfer, Steve Ruch, and Jane Smith. Jane also received the annual Choral Award.

Making a two-year tradition out of student-written Christmas musicals, Debbie Peters wrote and directed the 1977 edition, "A Children's Christmas." With Mike Peters arranging piano accompaniments to the songs and Colleen Peters helping with sound effects and directing, children played by Cathy Roth, Suzette Nanovic, Greg Shiner, Kevin Beers, Tanya Evans, and Tammy Parsons came to understand the meaning of Christmas with the help of some other friends.

Chorus members alternately sweated and froze during auditorium rehearsals, and the famous "Kevin Beers Breakdown Machine" will never be forgotten by youth choir members. Chorus and the choir meant great fun for some people, and the steadfast members learned much about singing while having a good time.

concert band

Pulling through a season that went a little quicker than many band members would have liked, the concert band came together to learn scales, breathing, and counting techniques. Although many members grumbled through warmups and exercises, most were relieved when director George Fennell decided not to keep a practice chart for every member. This learning really paid off when the band took their talents to an East Stroudsburg concert band competition, receiving a good rating in concert performance and an excellent in sightreading.

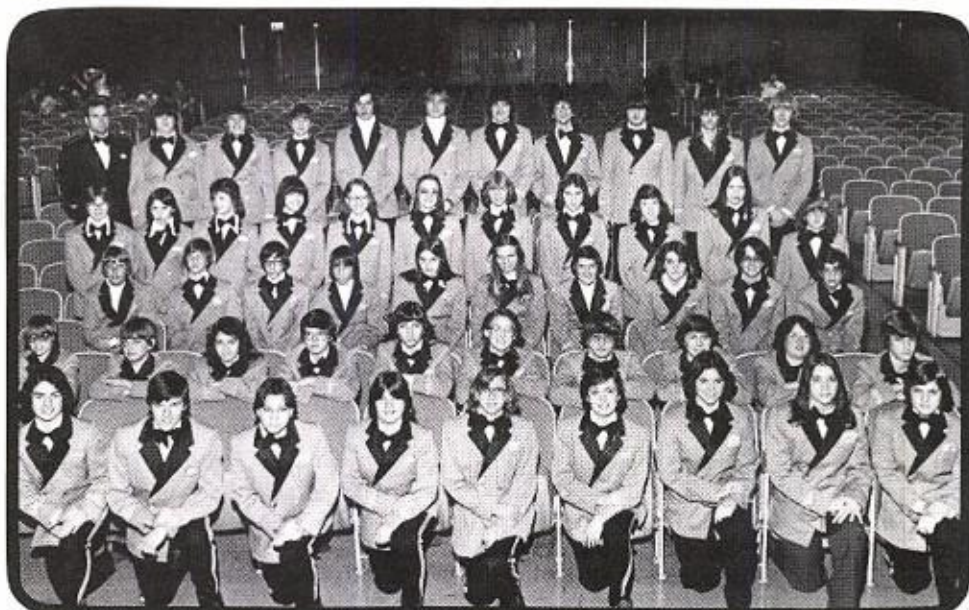

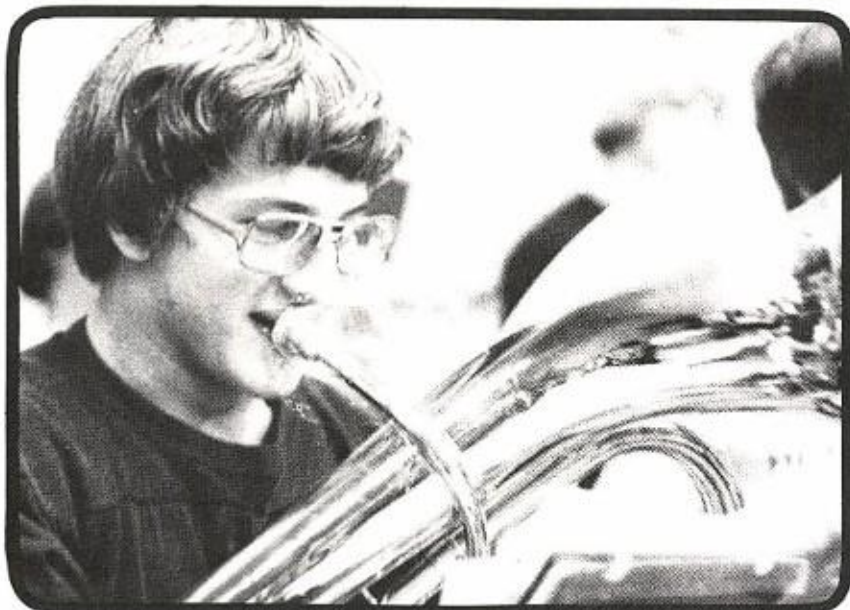

Many Slatington musicians were sent to County Band: Colleen Peters, Heather MacCrindle, Jane Smith, Debbie Peters, Lori Clause, and Michael Peters. One, Debbie Peters, went a step further, to Districts.

The spring concert, a night of sadness and joy for the band, ended with a tribute to the departing seniors, and awards presentation that included several new awards: each senior received a desk set; Roger Bauer, a US Marine Corps Music Award; John Meckes, the Eckert Brothers Music Award; Debbie Peters, the John Philip Sousa Award; and Jane Smith, the Clark Eckhart Memorial scholarship.

The band ended its short year by playing the traditional graduation songs for their graduating bandmembers as well as the other high school graduates.

A chance to get out of class, a chance to let off some steam, a chance to get up some steam, a chance to show off your twirling skills, or just a chance to show off! Pep rallies represent all these things for SHS students.

Pep rallies can mean Larry Williams and Terry Jacobs in full Indian regalia for the Leighton game, or they can mean Cindy Babyak in diapers, but most of all, pep rallies give students a chance to feel carefree, and still show they care about their school.

And here they are, the Slatington H.S. Marching Bulldog Band. Who's the best band in the Lehigh Valley? Perform as if you own the field. And perform they did. Practicing during long Hot summer nights the marching band worked hard for the competitions that lay ahead in the 1977 to 1978 school year. Finally reaching their goal in the Atlantic Coast Championships, the band also participated in the many parades throughout the year. Since the marching band worked so diligently during the year, under the direction of George Fennell, the loyal band boosters planned a trip to Great Adventure on May 23. Strive for your highest goal band and keep on playing that Beautiful Noise!

The 1977-78 version of the Slatington High School Band inspired pride in its performers as well as those who watched the show from the stands. "A Salute to Hollywood" was this year's theme. The performance included such songs as "Hurray for Hollywood," the "Road-runner" theme, and the theme from "Man of La Mancha." A special appearance was also put in by Porky Pig at each performance. The show thrilled audiences from 6 to 60, and it will long be remembered at S.H.S.

Under the direction of Larry Williams, the S.H.S. chorus presented two concerts, both open to the public. The Annual Christmas Concert was held on December 17. Such familiar songs as "Do You Hear What I Hear," "Silent Night," and "What Child is This" could be heard echoing through the auditorium. A more modern approach was taken in selecting the music for the Spring Concert. Selections included "Godspell," "Superstar," and a medley of Beatles tunes.

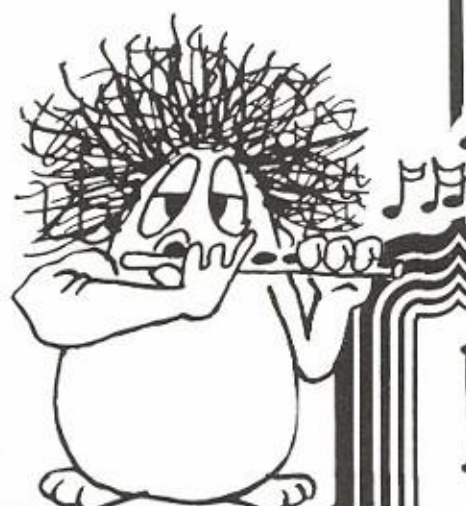

This year's jazz band deserves a round of applause for a job well done. Performing in the annual Talent-Fashion Show, the jazz band delighted those who attended and was summoned back for an encore performance both nights. The jazz band also performed in the Spring Band Concert. The band is directed by Mr. George Fennell. Congratulations on a year of superb music.

Wednesday, May 31, was a night to remember for those who attended the Spring Band Concert. The band did an excellent job, as it performed such songs as "Weekend in New England," "This One's For You," and many other enjoyable favorites. The concert band also entertained the student body at the opening of every assembly.

On Nov. 17 and 19th, crowds watched the seniors in the play, "YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU." Practicing until eleven p.m., reciting lines during sleep, and performing Larry's embarrassing "warm-up" exercises before show time helped nineteen budding actors and actresses turn into the members, friends, and acquaintances of the Sycamore family. After two nights waiting for firecrackers that never went off and sparklers that had "minor malfunctions", the cast had a most memorable "cast party." Director Larry Williams led the performers through endless practice sessions, followed closely by Sally Pfeiffer. Rick Eckert created all the terrific scenery, Chris Marino was the fireworks expert, and Ellen Yenser was the prompter.

Oklahoma!

Fighting was not uncommon among the cast for OKLAHOMA. The leads, who had clashing personalities, frequently argued over how certain scenes should be played. This worried director George Fennell greatly. However, during the last week of rehearsal, the cast made an all out effort to produce one of the best musicals ever performed at SHS. Although the play is over, many memories will remain: the terrific scenery by Rick Eckert, Cathy's "note cards," late night and outdoor rehearsals, Mrs. Oswald, the forgotten lines, Act III, scene ii, and closing night tears.

ASSEMBLIES

-a gum chewer's paradise; an uncomfortable study hall for cramming before next period; or the only place where the lights go out so you can take a nap! Assemblies can mean many things to many students, but for most of this year they meant a very interesting break from the endlessly boring school day. As a matter of fact, the students so enjoyed the preview of the SHS Talent-Fashion Show featuring Alan Beil and Marc Benninger in Annex (1), that they staged a small revolt, refusing to return to their homerooms! Other assemblies which proved very popular were the Antrim programs. Jack Chase (2) amazed many students as he shot baskets, popped wheelies, and jumped an obstacle course, all while on a wheelchair. Steve Mills (3), a juggler and unicyclist, proved to the audience that he could, after many attempts, juggle "5" bowling pins without falling off the edge of the stage on his unicycle.

Gymnastics, the trampoline (4), and a game called Punch Ball, in which Mr. Blose showed his skill (5), were the attractions brought by yet another Antrim performer, Danny Sokol. Danny charmed many of the SHS girls, but let a few of them in for some "ups and downs" (4).

Quiet ceremonies and flickering candles highlighted two important assemblies for SHS students. Student Council inductions (6) began the year for president Jack Bechtel, Vice-president Natalie Howard, secretary Brenda Lobach, and treasurer Sue DeLong, along with the homeroom representatives and alternates.

proceed in a

"The Wizard of Oz" was turned into a play of Leadership, Scholarship, and Service by National Honor Society Members (7). Mark Swarty (lion), Sherry Blose (scarecrow), Janie Hunsicker (Dorothy), and Pat Eby (wicked witch) lit their candles and roamed the aisles looking for next year's Society Members.

The gym hosted two of the most popular assemblies of the year. One was the knee-slapping, foot-stomping square dance assembly with Mr. Bill Gordon (8) yodeling out the calls. The other also was loud with foot-stomping but this time by the marching boots of the SHS Winterguard, "Blue Magic" (9).

A few assemblies have become annual events at SHS. David Jardin, who brings a new film every year of his summer adventures, introduced Slatington students to the life of the Indians in Canada in a film called "Indian Summer." The Ping-Pong and Volleyball playoffs between teachers and students showed again that the "teachers never win." The Magazine Campaign movie, "What's Up Doc" was the best ever seen, but only a few SHS students "stuck around" to see it before the Memorial Day Weekend.

An assembly on energy conservation with all kinds of contraptions including an electric motorcycle fascinated many students, but alumnus Craig Paine showed just what you can do with a SHS diploma when he brought his high school band from Deposit, New York back to his home town for a pleasant visit.

LUBS

Fifth period every day, students have a choice of either sitting in a boring study or spending their leisure time in an exciting club or elective. In one of our pictures we see Ron Anthony having a wonderful time playing chess. This is about the only time he is really serious (4). There is also Photo Club. But don't let this shot mislead you; they really do work hard (1). Carla Snyder and Margie Kester show team - work in Dancing Club (2). In Macrame Club, Kelly Oravec has her hands full (3). Other clubs and electives that keep students busy during fifth period include: Architectural Drawing, Dramatics, and Audio-Visual Aids. Students can also improve their skills in such non-academic areas as duplicating, food prep, typing, woodworking, mass media, needlework, and mechanical drawing.

LECTIVES

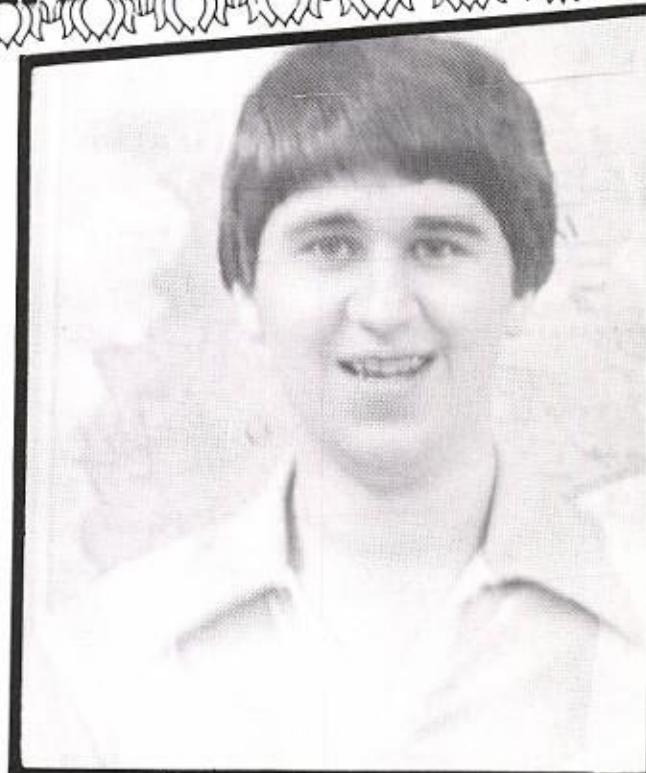

Three juniors spoke their impressive ideas to the title of "My responsibility to America" in the Voice of Democracy contest. Capturing the first three places were Heather MacCrindle, Chris Cunfer, and Lori Clause. These three girls were chosen by a selected panel of SHS faculty members as the finest speakers in the school. Heather's speech represented SHS in the district contest where she was honored with second place.

SPEAK OUT

DER SIEG

Der Sieg, translated to "the victory," was the experience felt by sophomore Greg Schuck and junior Michelle Lorah. Keeping the winning tradition here at SHS, Greg captured fifth prize with his recital of "Der Erl-konig." Michelle gave an exciting exhibition of "Der Handschuh."

This year's debate team was the largest in the Lehigh Valley. The team had only a few experienced debaters, but they are looking forward to a winning season next year.

BRAIN BOUT

THE FORCE

This year's scholastic scrimmage team proved to be a real force. After victoriously meeting with Notre Dame and Pius X, they met defeat in a hard battle with Liberty. Captain Tom Evans accompanied by intellectuals Tom Staskowski, Chris Cunfer, and Mark Swartz are a team to be remembered. Their successful season was highlighted by a bout with wasps during their final taping.

The SLATE Staff, edited by Debbie Peters and advised by Mrs. Roeder, added a new twist to newspaper writing and journalism with exciting features, timely news articles, permanent columns and cartoons. While some readers were Rippin' through the Records and Flip-pin' through the Flicks, other students were deciding their seasonal apparel, aided by Fashion Forecast, reading tidbits of information from Deb's column, Doubletalk, compare predictions with Tom Evans from The Locker Room, or learning of the new element of sports from the Powder Room. Keeping up the pace and tradition, Heather MacCrindle undertook the editorship in the middle of her junior year. Although many columns were maintained, a change in staff inspired Heather's Hearsay and Eck's Corner, giving many students interesting, diverse reading.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

National Honor Society began a busy year by inviting college freshmen to speak at the College Tea held in December. Each Freshman took turns speaking and answering questions about his school. Inductions, the highlight of the year, were held on April 18. Along with the usual ceremonial candlelight and vows came an amusing adaptation of "The Wizard of Oz" complete with costumes and music. Final projects included a field trip to Lehigh University for a National Honor Society workshop and a guided tour of the high school for the incoming freshmen of 1978.

Our Leaders

Student council tried to get off to a fast start by painting the bookstore during the summer months, but once school started, most things came to a halt. The "Welcome Back to School Dance" had to be postponed for a football game; the keys to the bookstore were lost; the Homecoming parade started without the sophomore float, and the magazine campaign fell short. Through all of the disappointments, student council kept working. They represented our school at the first annual "What's Happening" competition sponsored by the Palmerton Area JayCee's; they hosted Student Forum in the month of January; and the Talent Fashion Show brought out some new talents of the students. Overall, the 1977-1978 student council mixed good times with disappointments, working hard through both.

Who is responsible ?

You may be wondering about who is responsible for this Yearbook. Perhaps the following pictures will help explain it to you.

This is Debbie Peters. She was editor-in-chief of the yearbook staff. She was responsible for a great deal of this book.

This is Mr. Ingmundson and David Kaul. Mr. Ino, the yearbook advisor, was responsible for getting people to finish their assigned pages. Dave Kaul, leader of the photo club, was responsible for many people's headaches.

This is Sue DeLong. She was responsible for a large amount of typing. If you find a typographical error, you can blame it on Sue.

Several Yearbook members went on an educational field trip to New York City. As you can see, the trip was very educational. If you look closely, you can see a Yearbook member who fits in well with his surroundings.

This is Miss Miller. She was also an advisor of the Yearbook. She handled the business end of the Yearbook. She was also responsible for the strange announcement about "Slatington High robots" buying their Yearbooks.

This is a camera. It is being held by an unidentified member of photo club. The camera is responsible for many of the pictures in this book. The unidentified member of photo club is responsible for many unmentionable things.

Student life in Slatington does not end at 3:02, nor does it stop at the edge of the football field. Slatington students work hard and play hard, until curfew and sometimes afterward.

After 3, you can find students just about anywhere within a 20-mile radius of the school. Summertime features such activities as swimming, either at Victory Park or in some lucky friend's back yard. (2) Fishing season keeps many students busy, either in the early morning hours or in the calm of the afternoon. (4,5). Those with the nerve can try skydiving in the shadow of Blue Mountain (1), and those with a different kind of nerve can challenge Walt to a game down at the bowling alley. (3,8) Others enjoy horseback riding. (7)

Fun in the sun does not end when school opens again in the fall. Wintertime can mean hunting, trapping, or that most audible of winter pastimes, snowmobiling! (6)

The first day of school is a frightful experience for a ninth grader. The freshman walks among the upperclassmen not unlike the way an ant crosses a lawn. He must look up to almost all the other people in the building, literally. He asks how to get somewhere - "Hey up there, how do you get to Room 10?" - follows the senior's instructions exactly, and says "Hi" to Mrs. Hicks on his way into the room. After the third period he learns to ask a teacher for directions.

Later on in the day comes the inevitable. The freshman is late for class. He slowly opens the door and tries to sneak into the room only to be startled by a looming figure and a booming voice, "WHY ARE YOU LATE?" The freshman meekly replies, "I got lost." The figure turns out to be a teacher. "Well, okay this time, but DON'T let it happen AGAIN!"

Getting a locker is another dread of the freshman. The homeroom teacher gives him his locker number and the combination, then directs him to his locker. After the fifth try, he asks for help - either a teacher or a more skilled student. The valiant hero opens the locker with a flourish as though he has been doing it all his life. The poor freshman, who has never so much as seen a locker like this before, stays on with unusual perseverance, only to be late getting back to homeroom.

Shortly after he is finally settled in his homeroom, he finds himself in a procession to a doorway resembling an entrance to the colosseum in Rome. Everyone is filing silently through as though being put up before a firing squad.

It is a rather harrowing experience if one is not accustomed to it, because it is impossible to know what is going on.

At the end of the day, the freshman thinks, "At last, my troubles are over for one day!" He rushes from the building to see the back end of his bus leaving the high school grounds.

These are only a few of the freshman worries. There is lunch to go through, getting a gym locker, filling out twenty-thousand index cards by the end of the second day, and on, and on, and on. All of you have been through it, so please, take mercy on the freshman. He does not know what he is doing!

Sam is a tenth-grader. Tenth-graders are commonly known as sophomores. Sophomores are not happy people. They are too young to be tough upperclassmen, but too old to be naive little freshmen. You see, tough upperclassmen get everything their own way. Little freshmen are allowed to make mistakes because they don't know better. Sophomores don't get any of these privileges. Poor Sam.

Sam has a problem. His girlfriend, Sally, is going out with Steve Senior. Sam hates Steve Senior. However, Sam wouldn't tell Steve that to his face. You see, Steve is 6'3", 220 pounds. Sam isn't. Steve could turn Sam into little scraps of paper. But Sam is sick of Steve. He goes up to Steve and says "Hey, I hear you are messing with my girl!"

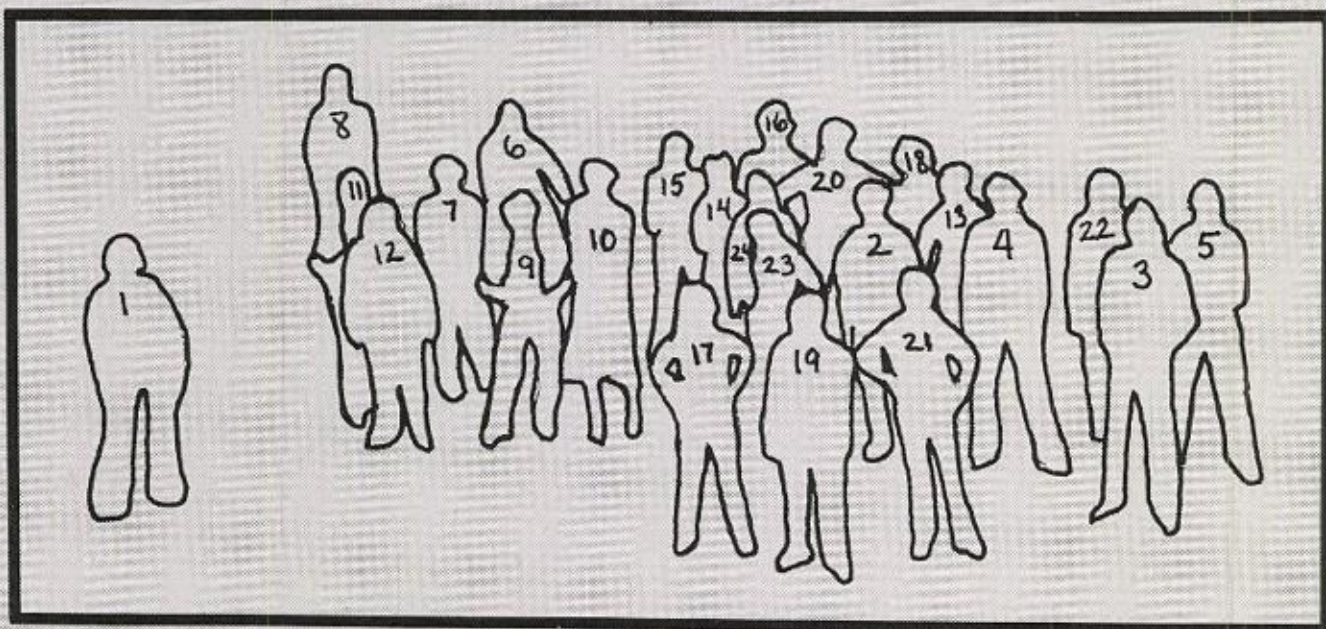

When Sam gets out of the hospital, he decides to go out for a sport to get his mind off Sally. Sam decides to go out for baseball. Sam thinks he has a good chance of making the team. That's because no one ever gets cut from baseball.

1.)- (joon yer) n. - a rare creature with a life span of only 180 days (plus snow days (5), known to thrive in the hallways and classrooms (sometimes) of SHS.

2.) - born September 7, 1977, as the great brown doors of their habitat bang noisily on their heels, they migrate from their summer fun in big yellow contraptions. (Latin contr. of JUVENIOR) -

3.) - bleary eyed, bored, and sun tanned, these creatures dodge harmlessly up already memorized halls, open lockers without even looking, and repeat to themselves the "Welcome Back" speech coming over the little square box on the wall.

4.)- classified as lower-upper-classmen, they begin their third stage in life as juniors. Above the mere freshman and sophomore stages, they are now next-to-last, one-year-to-go, and not-quite-finished-yet (in other words: scared, hopeful, and waiting)

(compar. of juvenis, young)adj.-

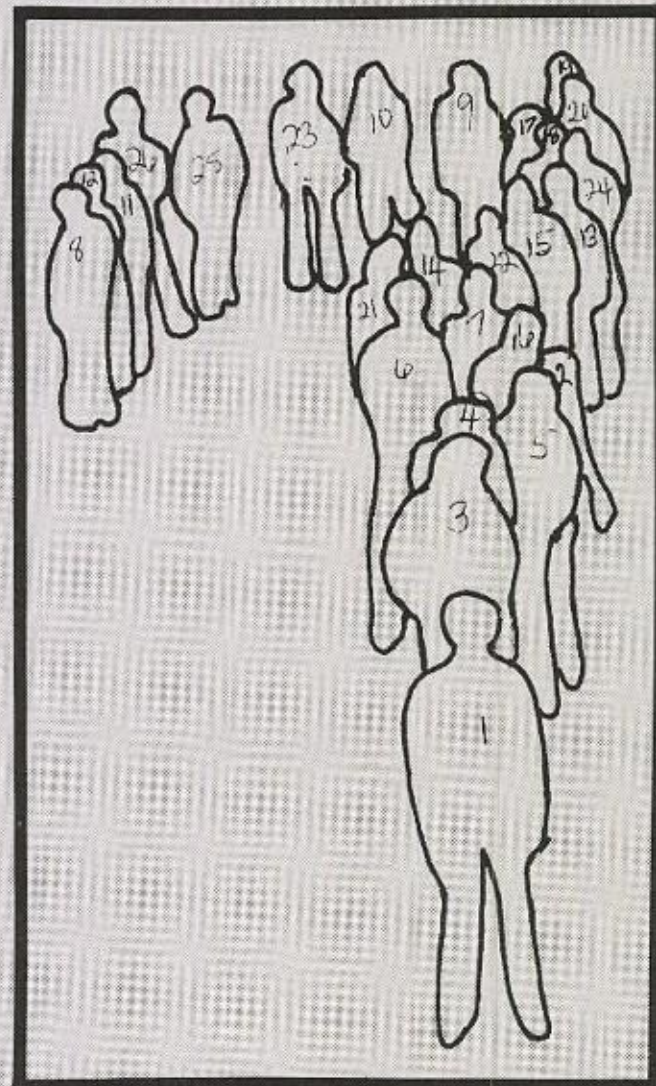

5.)-known to gather in large groups to hold meetings, they are transported from the gym (both boys' and girls' sides), and they now begin one day a month with the odor of cafeteria "delights." Floats (whatever they are), candy sales (M & M's), and Dorney Park nights ($5.00) are the results of these gatherings. These "Floats" (white-tissue-covered VW's) win first places (usually).

6.)- the last year's J.V. jocks are now called varsity, flaunting this new title to charm star-struck freshmen. Junior females (however) see through the act, remembering last year's silly sophomores. (see yeu-2 in App. *)- junioring, juniored, juniors

7.)- a bit more daring, they try their wings often. A newly acquired skill of driving (almost) attracts many followers. Driver training, permits, and "Cinderella" licenses don't stop true "junior spirit". Side streets are wicked raceways as (some-many-all) juniors crash into snow-banks, drown in potholes, and "park" along old deserted roads (?)

8.)- an annual event of juniors (called a Prom) occurs April 1st (a "foolish" day, appropriately chosen). Arranging themselves in uncomfortable tuxes and gowns, they dazzle each other for the night. Corsage, court, Village Inn, queen, and "We've Only Just Begun" are words repeated again and again until couples disappear on the famous wheels once more. (Abbr. Jr., jr., Jun., jun.)- designating the third year of high school (JUNIOR)

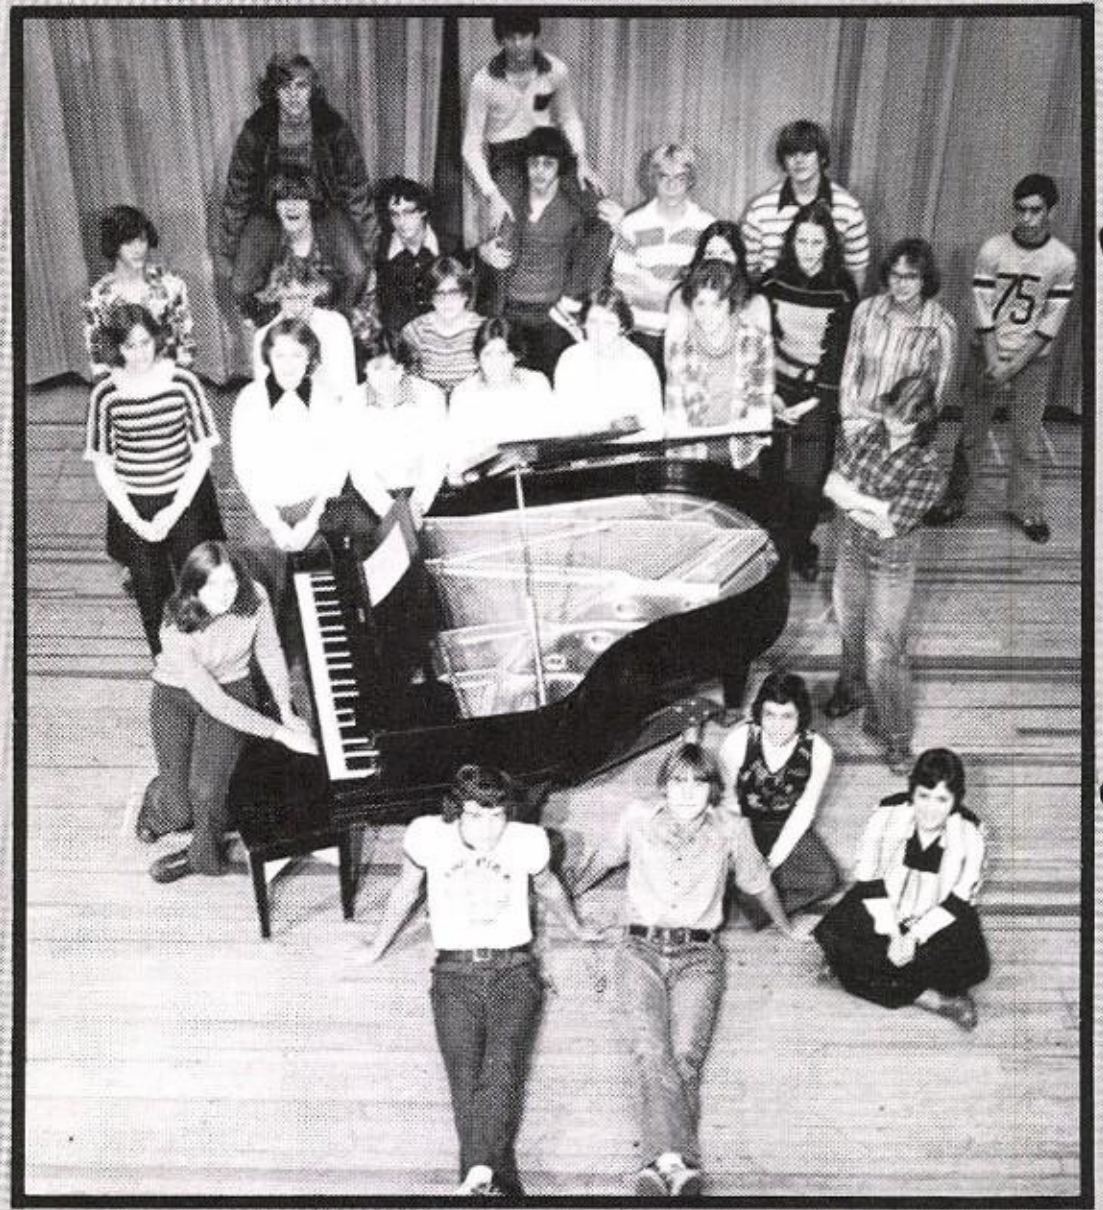

9.)- in this trying (but often fun) stage juniors begin to grow, to think of the future, and to plan. Testing their legs, they walk in senior territory, watching graduation for their last time as spectators.

10.)- returning again next year as Seniors, they will complete the last and best stage-Senior- what everyone has been hoping for (or have they?) Junior is, after all, a safer word.

BULLDOG RUNNERS

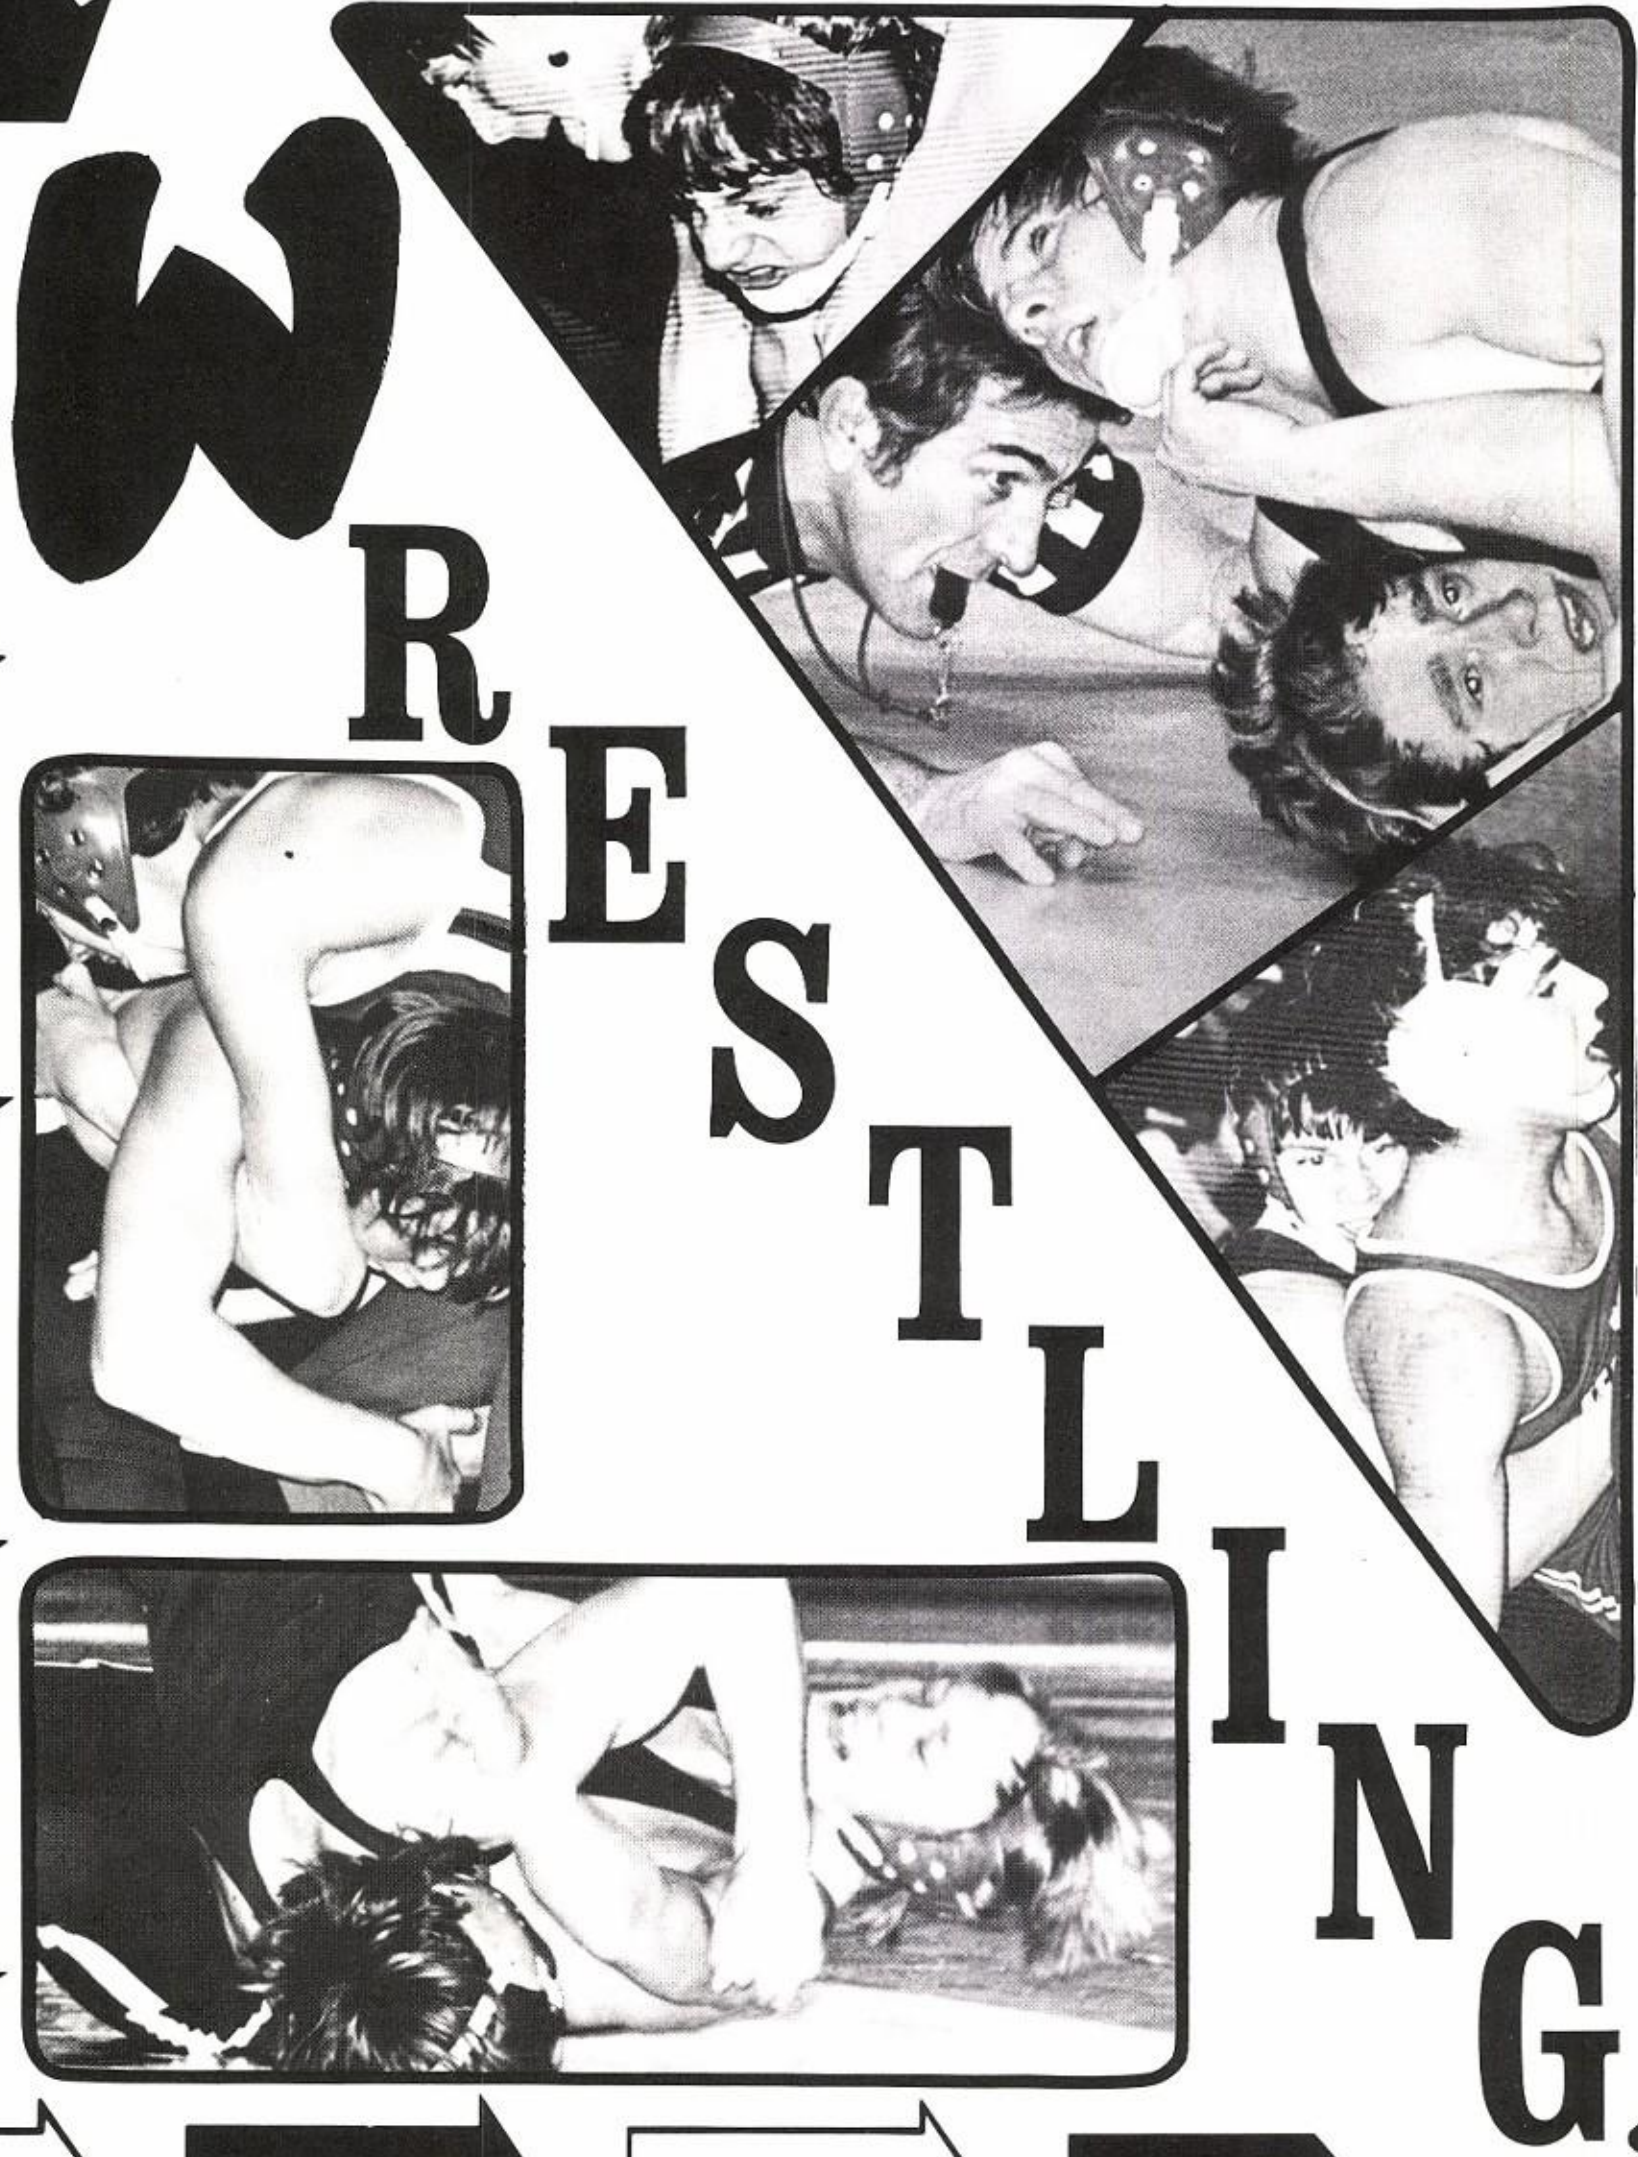

C.I.A.A. CHAMPS

Under the guidance of Coach Glenn Rissmiller, the Bulldog Cross Country team started on the wrong foot, losing the first two meets, but retaliated to capture nine straight dual meets and the Centennial League Championship. It was our first championship in the two years of competition of the C.I.A.A. In the process, the SHS harriers also won the Centennial League Meet, bringing yet another trophy and six individual medals to our school.

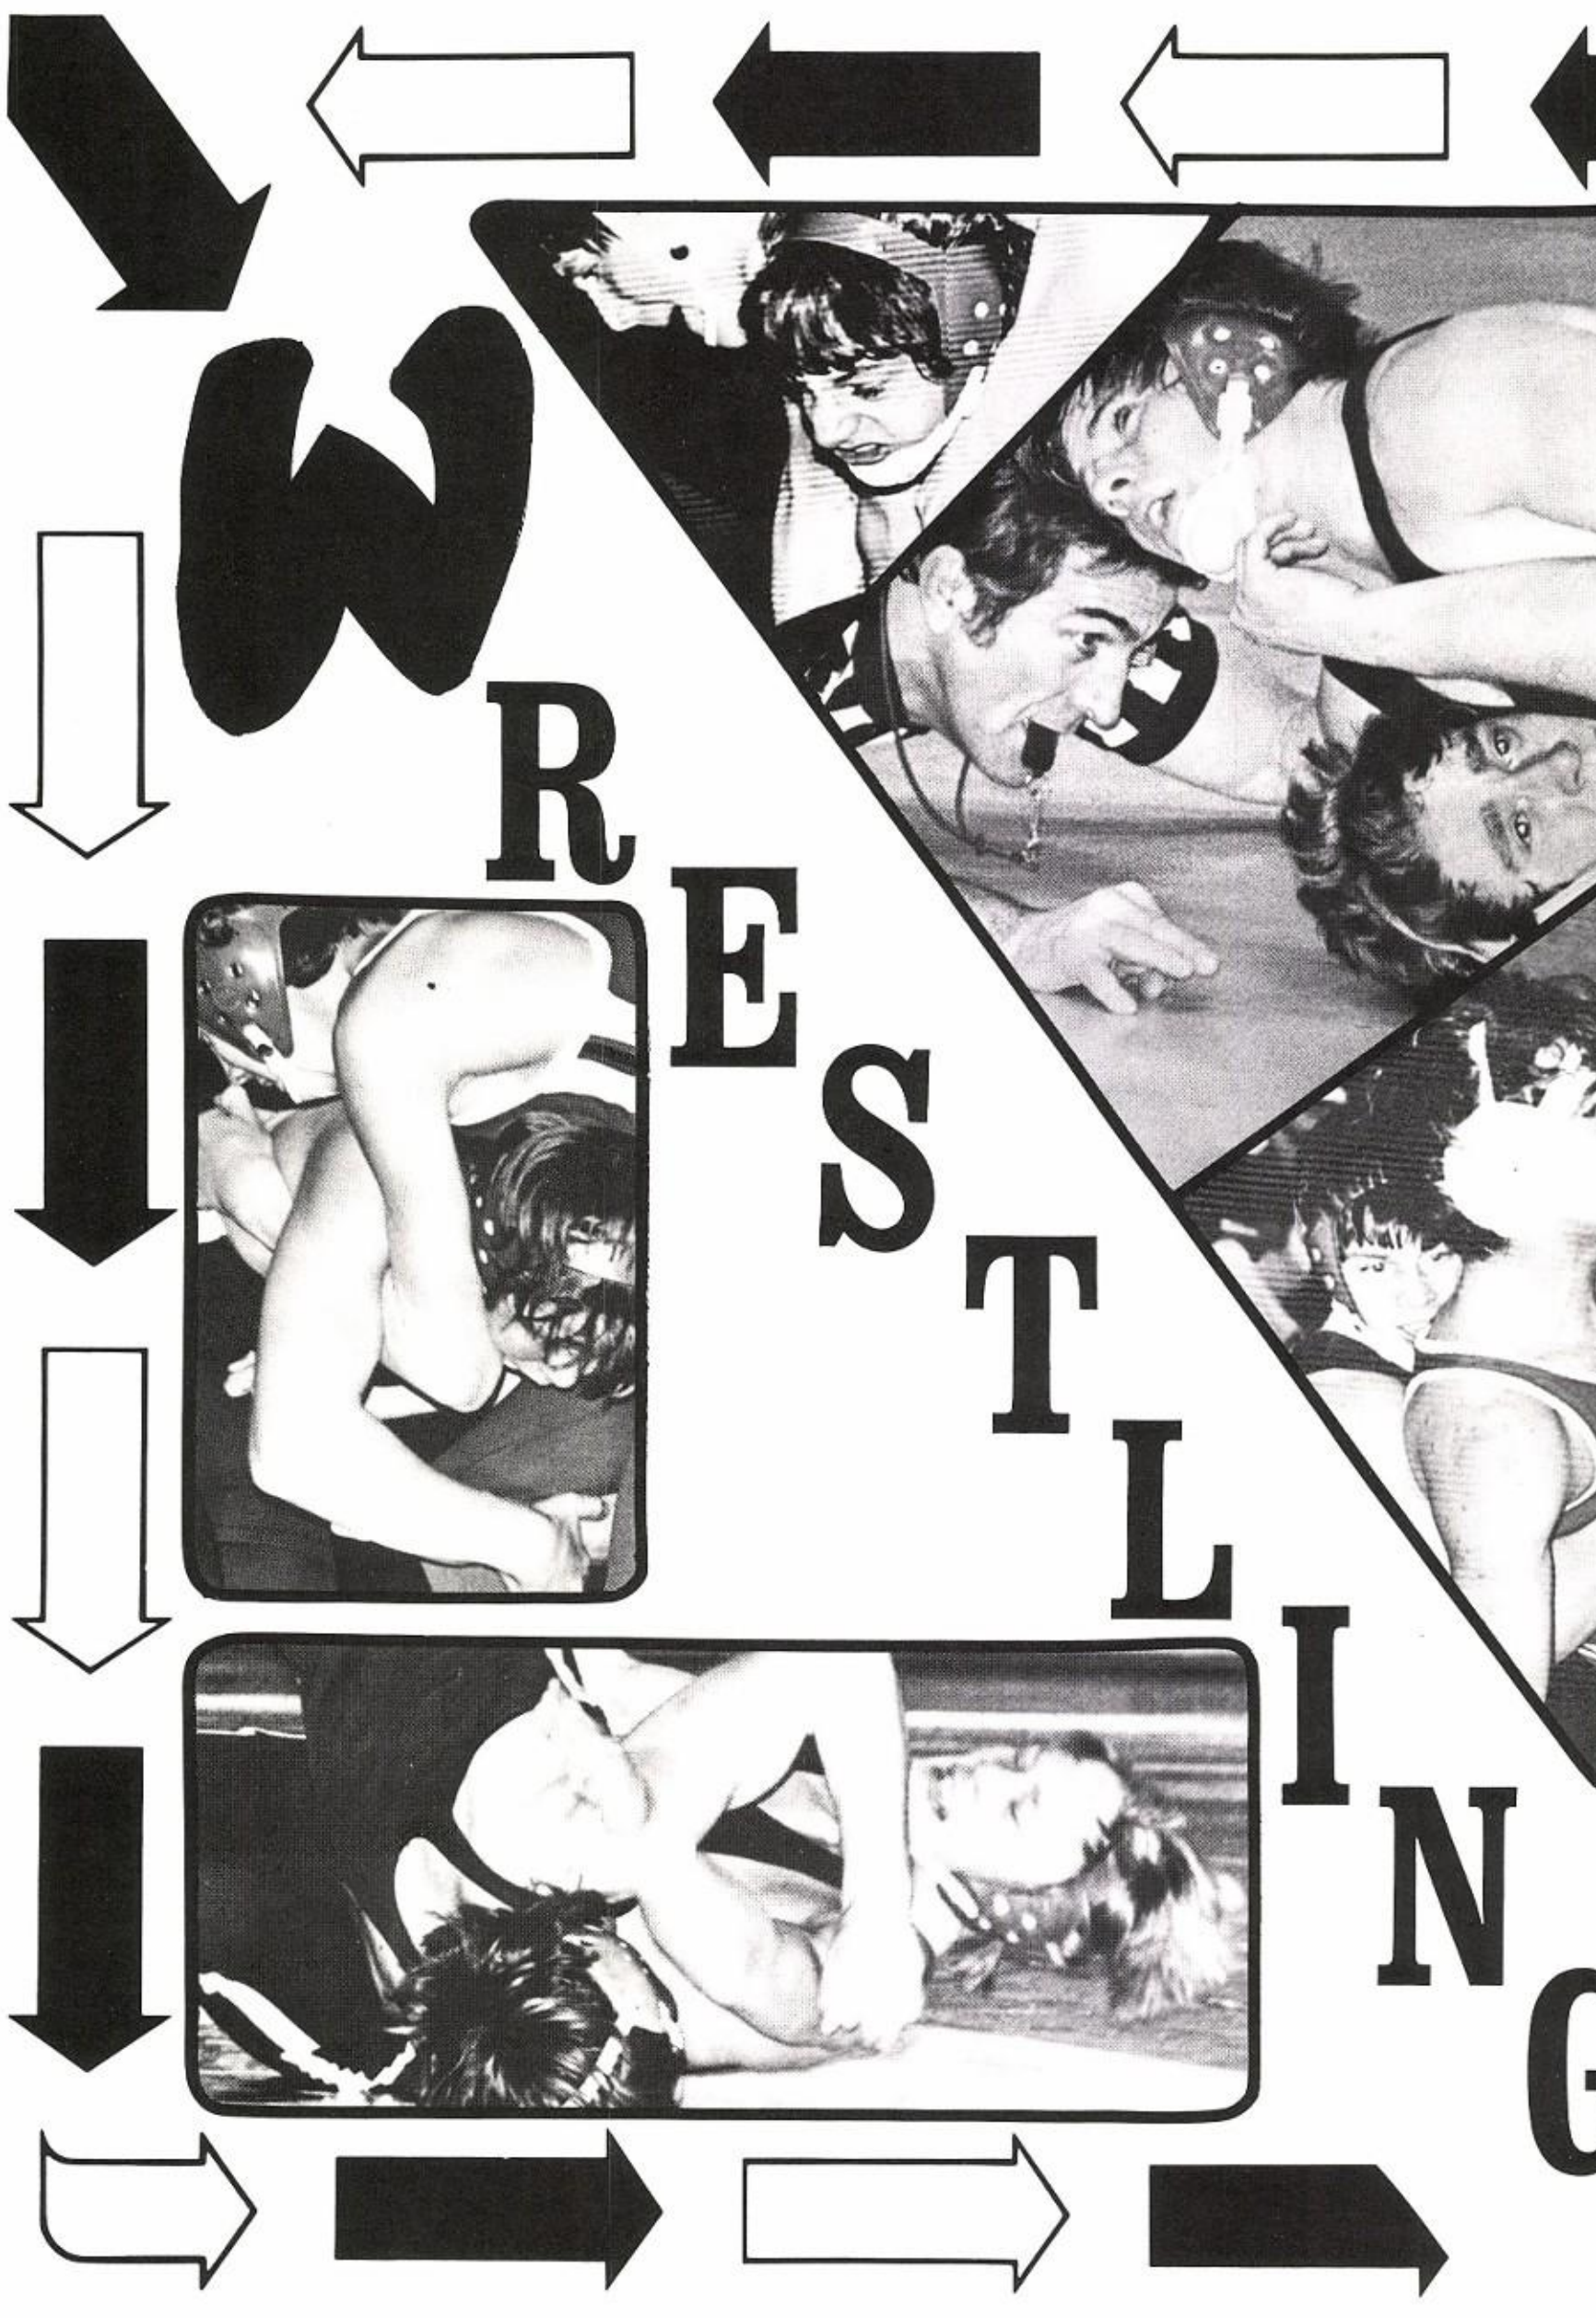

Led by Barry Eckhart, who was undefeated in dual meets, our team placed third in the Lehigh Valley Invitational Meet and fourth in the District XI Meet. Eckhart represented Slatington in the State Meet at Penn State University.

Bruce Kemmerer provided stiff competition by staying on Eckhart's heels and pushing him. Besides Eckhart and Kemmerer, we relied upon a nucleus of runners in Duane Beers, Greg Shiner, Marc Benninger, Don Berger, Dave Oertner, and Mike Jones. Coach Rissmiller has a good crop of returnees for a possible repeat championship in 1978-79.

The 1977 Football Court consisted of Kathy Rex, Cathy Evans, Queen Shelly Jones, Brenda Lobach, and Julie Hoffer.

A Trying Season

During summer practices, there was an air of optimism as the Centennial League darkhorse prepared for the season ahead. Tri-captains for the '77 season were Frank Leickel, Dan Loch, and Kevin Miller. The team consisted of 16 seniors, 9 juniors, and 18 sophomores, 20 of them returning letterman.

After an opening victory over Catasauqua the determination of the Bulldogs grew. The second game brought a heart-breaking defeat at the hands of the Mounties, the eventual league champs.

Although teamwork prevailed in their efforts to possibly recapture the crown, the team lost some of its unity as the season wore on; however, they regained some of their pride in a hard fought game with an old rival, Palmerton, which ended in a tearjerking loss of 7-6.

Coach Snell summed up the season with these words: "I'm disappointed that as a staff we couldn't give this group of talented seniors a championship. There are a lot of fine outstanding people in this class, and as a team, we deserved a better fate. I wish all the seniors the very best and challenge the underclassmen to attain even greater heights." There were many trying situations, but our Bulldogs kept trying, finishing with a 6-5 mark.

Coach Snell looks amused!!

RECORD:

17 - 9

1. Sheila Green fiercely dribbles down the court. 2. Coaches Wayne Kern and Dick Jones display cheerful smiles after a long season. 3. Bernice Follweiler doesn't have time to smile for the camera. 4. Jamie Bachman drives to the basket to chalk up two more for the Bulldogettes.

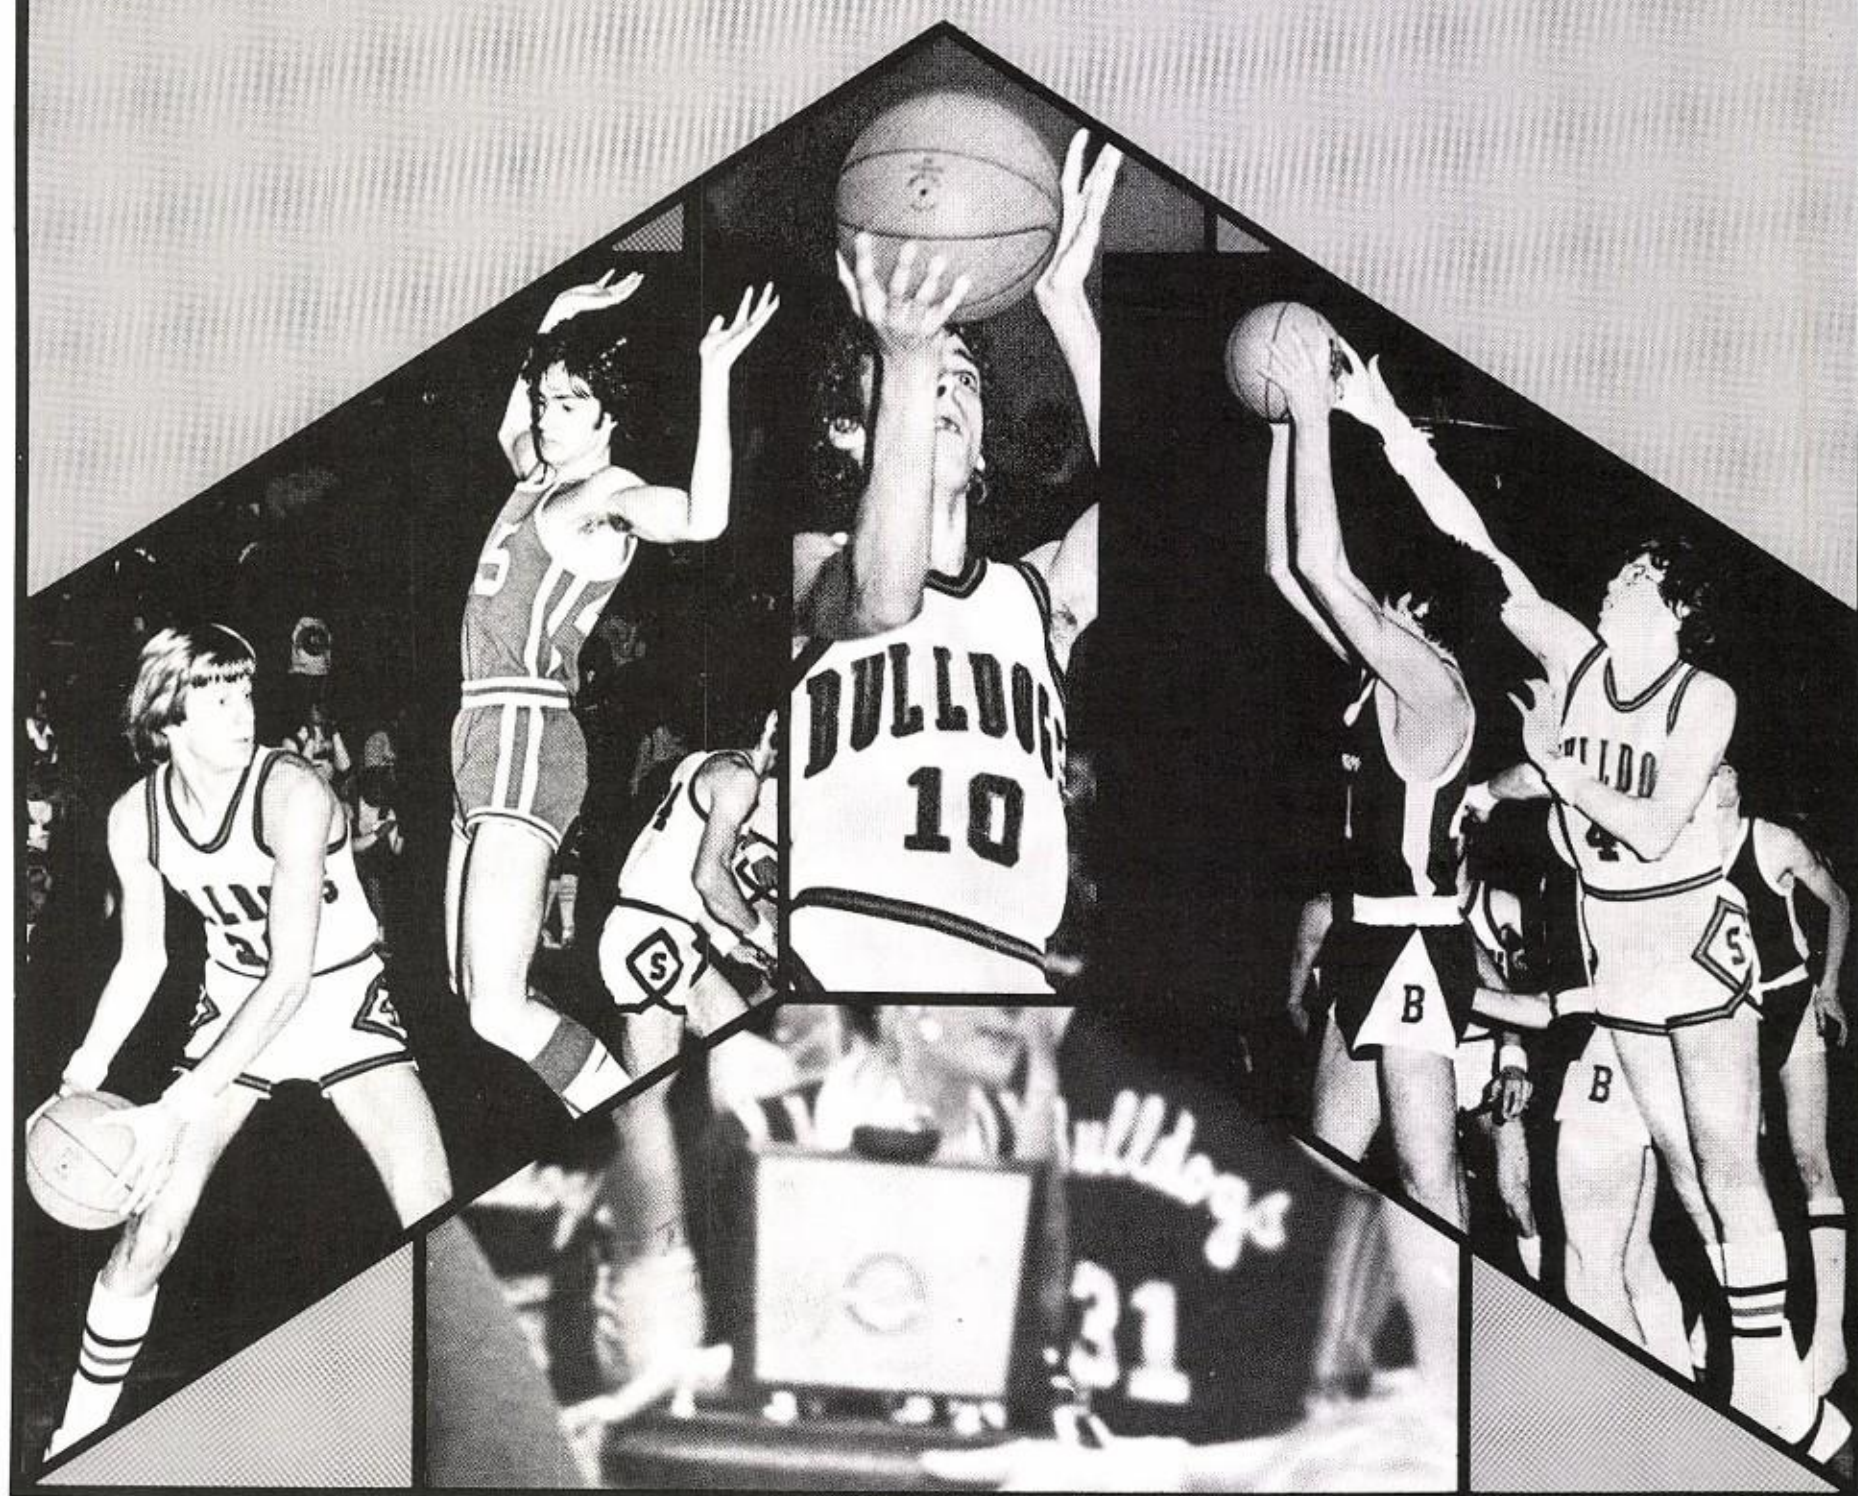

The Bulldogettes, starting the season with six returning lettermen, had high hopes for the Centennial League season. Despite the lack of size overall, the girls made up for this with their enthusiasm and desire. They ended league play with a record of 10 and 6, and an overall mark of 17 and 9. The Bulldogettes competed in District XI playoff action, but ended on a sour note, losing to Marion Catholic in the first round. They concluded their year with a new school high for girls at 17 wins and 9 losses.

That simple statement says a lot about the 77-78 Bulldog cagers. Once they reached the top, they stayed there with ability, hustle, and character. Although their backs were to the wall at times, they came through on top, as C.I.A.A. Champions. The year was full of excitement, as the fans and students of Slatington saw a well-disciplined, team-oriented squad accomplish a 24-3 record, the best in the history of SHS. The team featured balance with Captain Dave Oertner leading the team in scoring with a 16 points per game average. He was followed by Mike Fisher, 13; Marc Benninger, 12; Ron Breiner, 10; and Bruce Kemmerer, 9. Oertner, the League's MVP, and Fisher were named to the First Team Centennial All-Stars. Benninger was named to the Second Team, while Breiner and Kemmerer received further honors when all 5 starters were named to LARC's All Star Team.

Coach Moyer and Miller talk about some on-the-spot strategy.

Jones watches the ball high into the air, hoping to hit something for supper for the team.

"Look the ball into your hands," "Let's get moving now," and "Hoiyahoiya" are just a few of the things that are heard at every softball game. Coach Debbie Moyer had high expectations, about the team because of the personnel, but the team ended with 2 wins, 15 losses, and 1 tie.

Overall, the team is young, losing only four starting seniors. Coach Moyer hopes to see much improvement for next year.

Werley, alias Squirrelly, can't keep her mind on the game.

Under the direction of coaches Frank Carazo and Erwin Prutzman, this year's team didn't turn out as well as the coaches would have like, with a 3-14 record. But as coach Prutzman stated, "the team was better than their record showed."

Coach Carazo stated, "with the record of the J.V. team this year, we should have a good team for the years to come."

There wasn't a great deal to cheer about on the '78 baseball team, but there is good reason for hope for next year.

GIRLS

TRACK

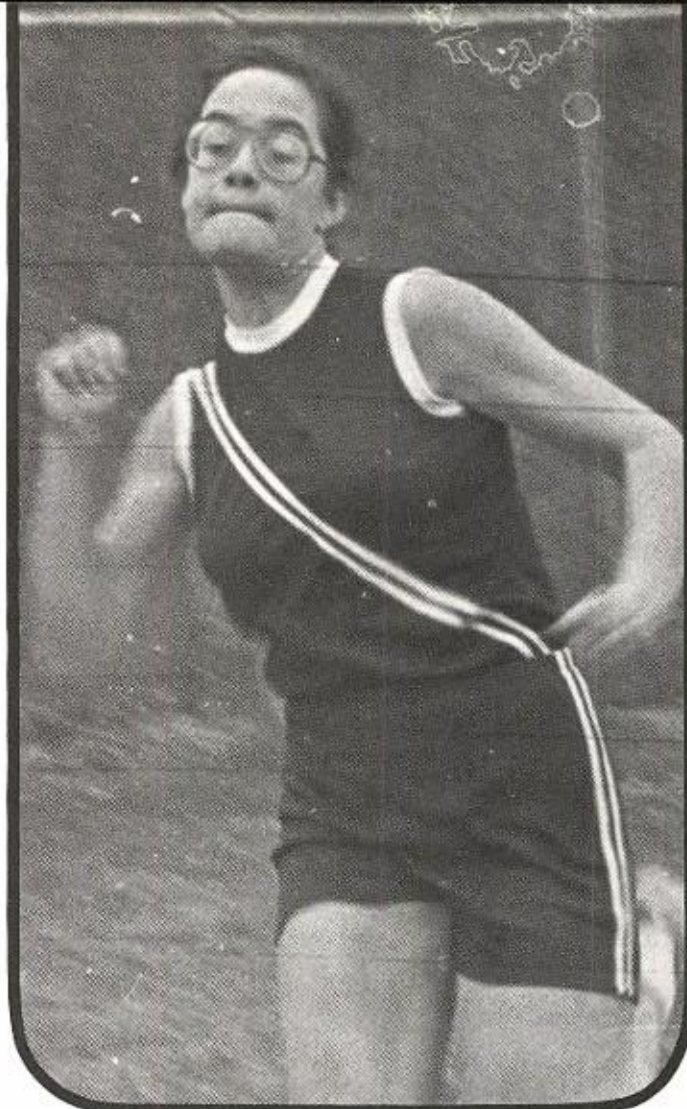

Hard work, sweat, and pain may best describe the glamorous activity of girls' track. Endurance and hard work built confidence and success for the team and especially for certain individuals. The girls broke records in the mile, shot put, two mile, discus, and javelin. The mile and two mile records were broken by Betsy Shiner, with times of 5:34.7 and 12:53.7. In the triple jump, sophomore Pam Peters broke a record at 30' 7".

The top ranking athlete in track was Suzy Jones, a third place finisher at Districts this year. Suzy broke records in the shot put (33' 8 3/4"), discus (112' 5"), and javelin (103' 5"). She was the only area girl to come home with two medals. Coach Rissmiller and Coach Snell are looking forward to a very good season next year.

THE ATHLETIC BANQUET

On June 7 the athletic banquet was held at the Gourmet Inn, sponsored by the Varsity "S" Club. Roy Schleicher, a former coach at SHS, was the guest speaker for the evening. After the dinner and speaker the presentation of awards made the atmosphere tense. Having many fine athletes to choose from, the coaches picked the most deserving young men and women. Suzy Jones, being picked the most outstanding girl athlete, took home many well deserved trophies. Barry Eckhart, being voted the outstanding athlete of the year, also was awarded top honors in the sports he participated in during the year. Both of the recipients of outstanding athletes are underclassmen, and they will be back next year to represent SHS for further fame. A special award was given to the school from Robert Morgan for the championships that were won this year. He presented banners to be hung in Smith Hall, honoring the championship teams. The year of 1978 will long be remembered by the seniors and everyone else that participated. The school will also remember the great athletic achievements of 1978.

Nobody Ever Said ...

"Nobody ever said it would be easy." That's the way librarian Linda Rinehart (picture 1) likes to sum up her job. Of course the same expression applies equally well to many other members of the high school staff. Mrs. Violet Jones (2) keeps busy controlling flu epidemics and commuting to the Junior High. Helping students plan for the future and survive the present is the main responsibility of Counselors Dixie Gross and Charles Canning (3,4). Teacher aides Natalie Schleicher, Larry Williams, and Debbie Caton (5) fulfill a variety of roles including office work, library work, bathroom patrol, and directing class plays. Secretaries Betty Parry and Janice Merkel (6), help just about everyone.

It Would Be Easy .

Providing all the behind-the-scenes services that a high school requires is no easy job, but Slatington High has a capable staff to do the work. We see Charlie Hughes (left) the most often, hoisting the flag in the morning, or fixing something that has come loose or burned out. After 3:00, Jim Williams, Mrs. Gladys Williams, and John Huscar (above, left to right) take over the never-ending job of cleaning up. The cafeteria staff (left to right) of Mrs. Margaret Blose, Mrs. Barbara Hadinger, Mrs. Nancy Snyder, Mrs. Ethel Beers, Mrs. Lorraine Roth, and Mrs. Ruth Roberts provides us all with another service we could not do without. An easy job? No, but a job cheerfully done, and well done.

PATRON!

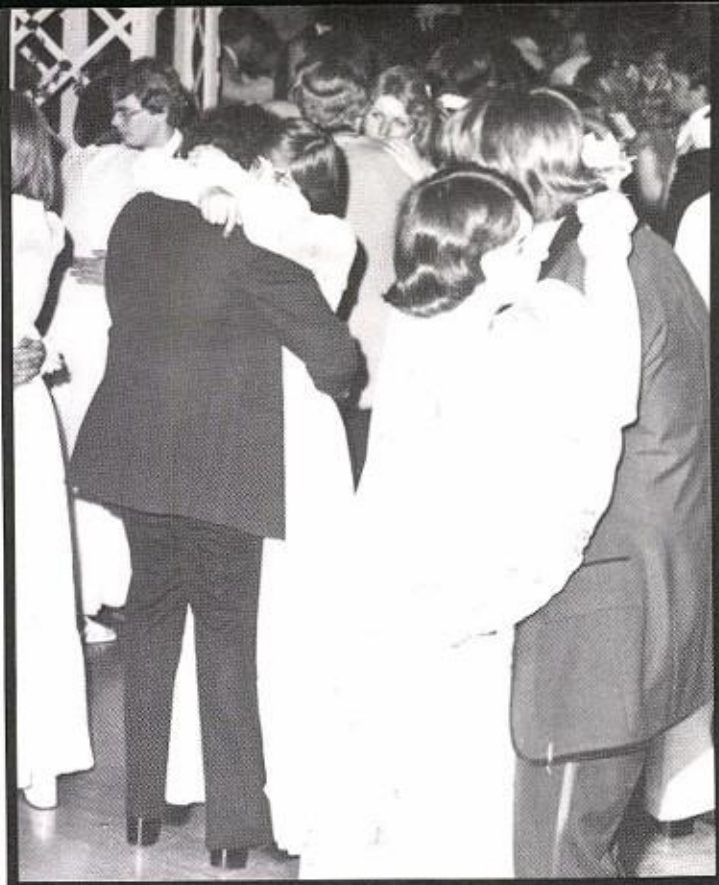

Seniors

when i think of all the things that will end with this day i sometimes wish i would have colored more carefully and subtracted faster and fought less then maybe this day wouldn't be so sad if i would have played harder at recess or read more books or sung louder in music class maybe i wouldn't be crying but i did know my times tables and i memorized really well and i did like my school so maybe i did do my best

Rolling Along and Winding Road

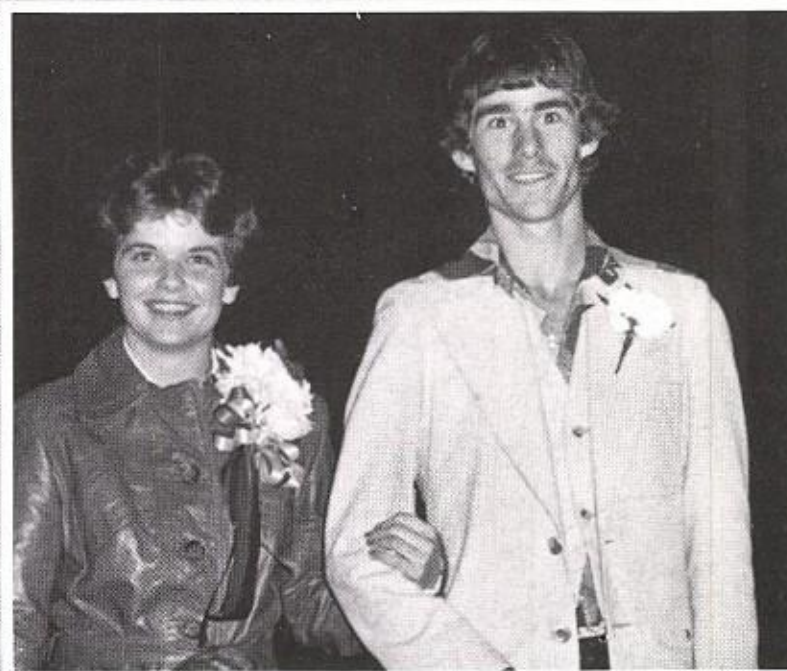

Held on the twenty third of April, nineteen seventy-seven, the class of '78 presented its junior prom, THE LONG AND WINDING ROAD. Smith Hall, elaborately decorated, had a newness of life for this very special night. Sixty couples attended the dance, while over three hundred visitors arrived later for the ceremonial crowning of the queen. After all guests were seated, the court members and escorts were announced. All was still for the magic moment when Emcees Nancy Edwards and Rick Rice announced the queen to be Julie Hoffer.

A Regal Evening

With all the hustle and bustle of float-making, Homecoming Day finally arrived. With classes over, shouts of a pep rally were evident. The assembly also produced some serious moments-the guest speakers, the presentation of the court, and the crowning of the queen. Queen Cindy Babyak was accompanied to her seat by Charlie Cunfer. Her court consisted of Rhonda Davies escorted by Jack Bechtel, Julie Hoffer and Dave Oertner, Kathy Rex escorted by Dennis Andrews, and Brenda Lobach with Kevin Johnson. The parade preceded a hard fought football game against Lehigh.

"If I leave"

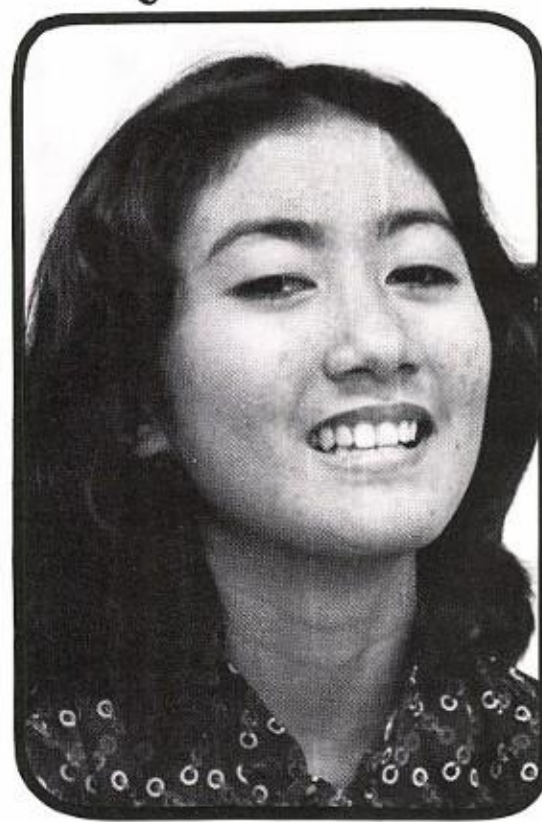

To the people of SHS,

Thank you for all the things you have done and for making this year a memorable one for me. I really learned a lot during my stay here in Slatington, and I had a lot of fun—especially watching the football and basketball games. I congratulate all the winning teams, and I am proud that I was a Bulldog during your winning year. I also enjoyed being in the musical, youth choir, and chorus, for it helped me to understand music better.

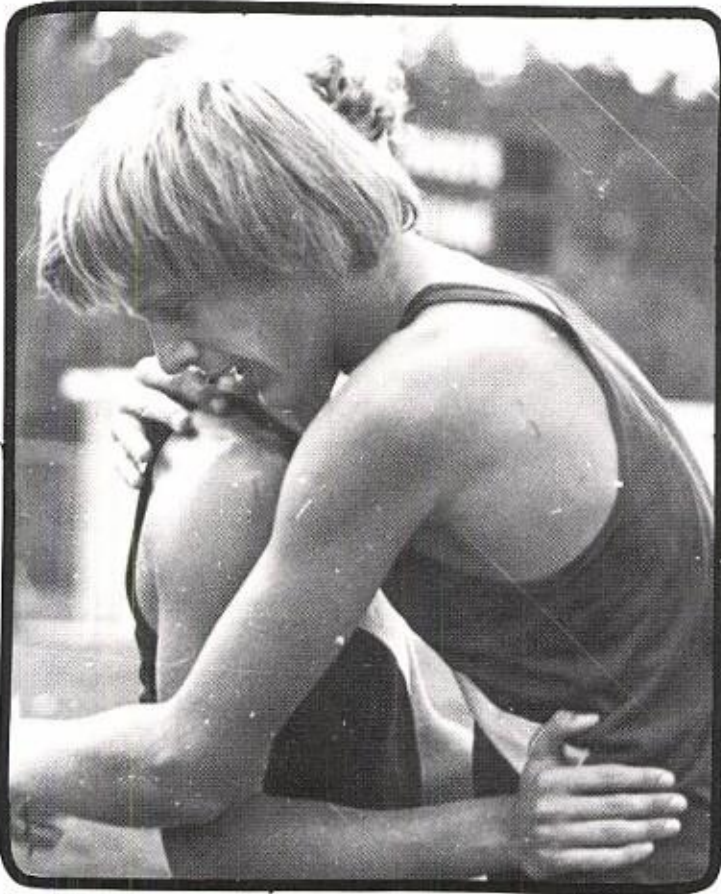

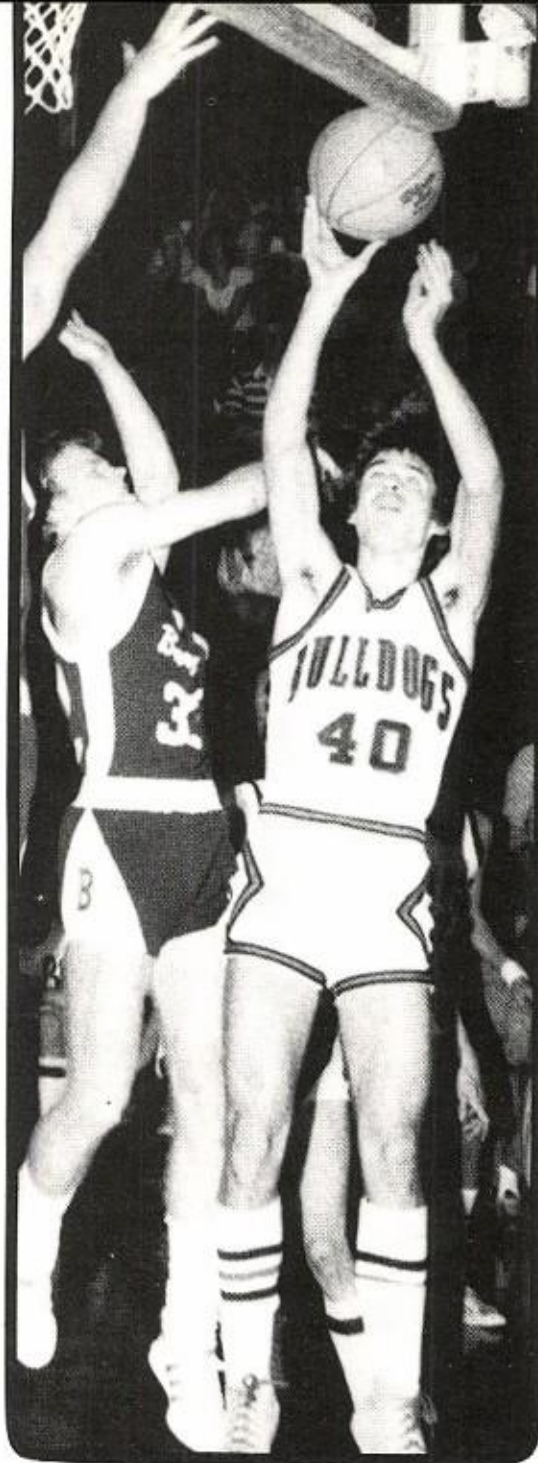

Coming from an exclusively girls' school to a coed school was a big difference, since I wasn't used to school life with boys. It wasn't as hard to adjust as I thought, however, because everybody made me feel at home.

Most of all, I would like to thank all my foster families and friends for helping me get involved in all the activities that made me understand American life better. The only part that made me feel miserable was during the graduation night because that was the last day that I saw all the seniors together. I know this year made me more mature and I'll never forget this year as it becomes a happy memory for me.

Mary Ann Cabrera

here tomorrow,

With three League championships, in cross country, track, and basketball, in one year, SHS can certainly say with pride that we are a championship school. But there are so many other unmentioned teams and people in the school who are equally victorious because they reached personal goals that they had set for themselves, such as beating one certain team, or outdoing only one person, or even just doing your very best. SHS owes credit to all these winners who worked hard for Bulldog glory.

2. Several seniors pose with Representative Rooney after a brief discussion on Walnutport's sewage problem.

3. Roxanne Fritzinger spends a memorable night in the stocks.

remember me ?

Although the tradition of Class Day began on June 7, 1978, with tears, the sadness quickly changed to smiles and laughs as the underclassmen, faculty, and guests joined seniors in remembering their years at SHS. Skits fondly recalled the excitement in ninth grade biology class, the mishaps of a tenth grade carwash, the magic of the junior prom, and the mysteries of the faculty room. Everyone listened to discover if their guesses had come true for class favorites and if they had been left anything in the Last Will and Testament; then things grew more solemn as awards were presented and speeches were made. Many people were thanked, among them secretaries Janice Merkel and Betty Parry, principal and assistant principal Robert Labdik and Lynn Solt, and class advisers Frank Carazo and Dave Papay. Suddenly it was over; seniors reluctantly left their seats and the auditorium, reflecting on the meaningful words of the class song, "Free-bird," and their memories and dreams.

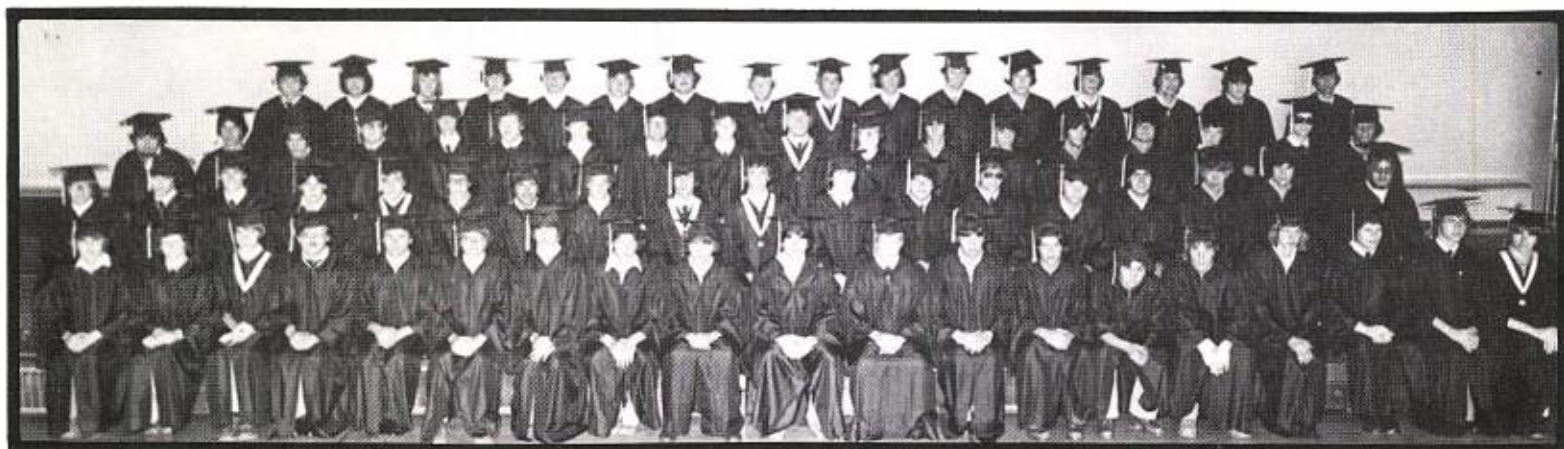

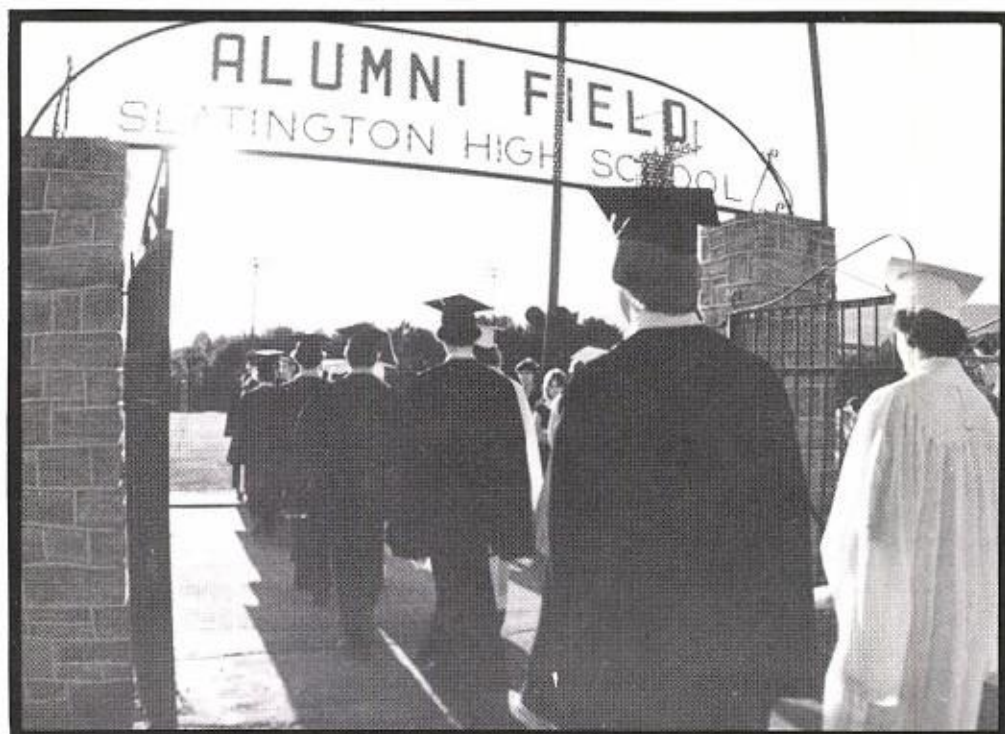

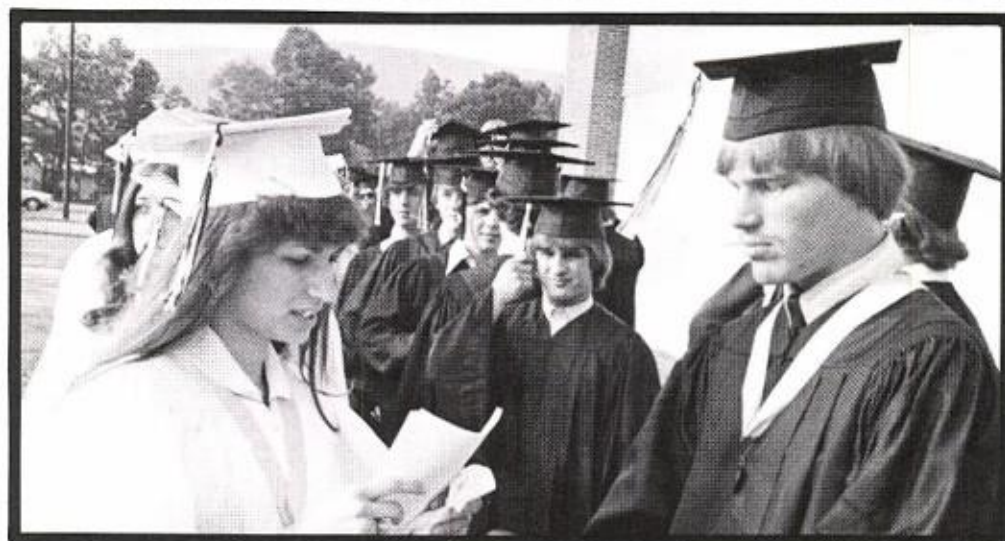

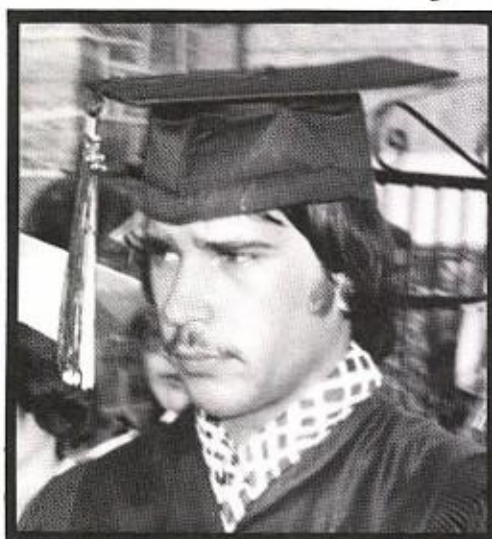

'Cause I'm as free as a bird now,

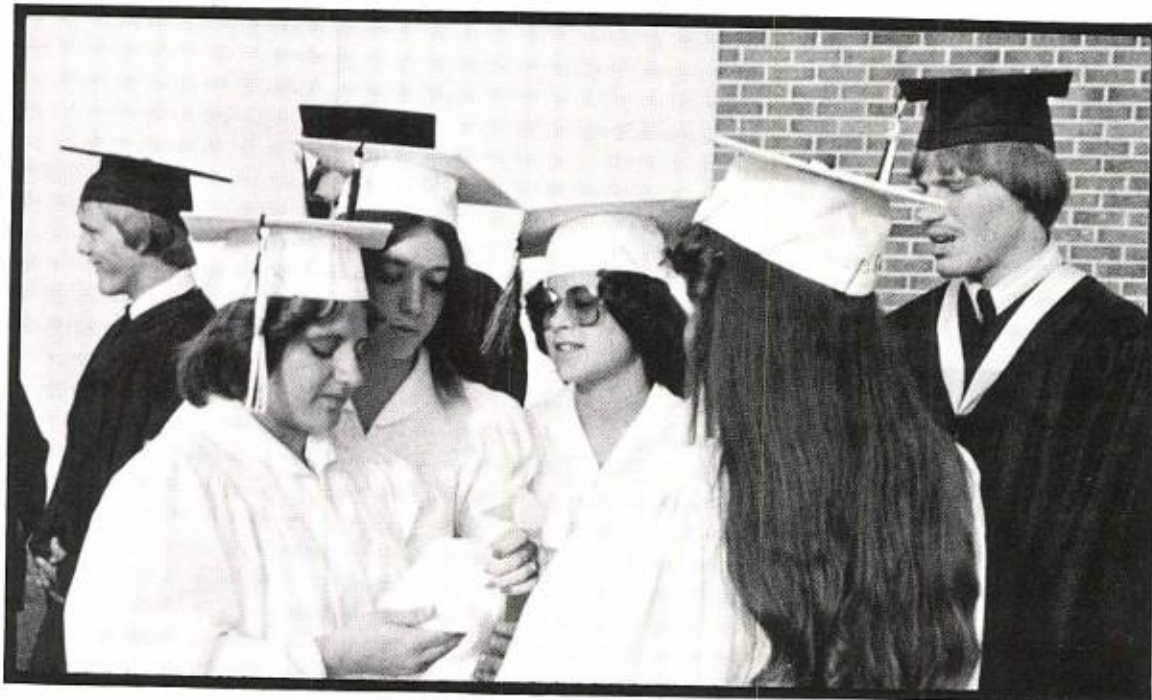

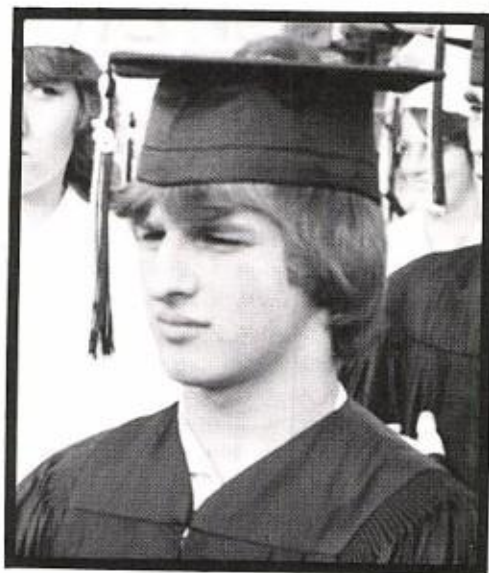

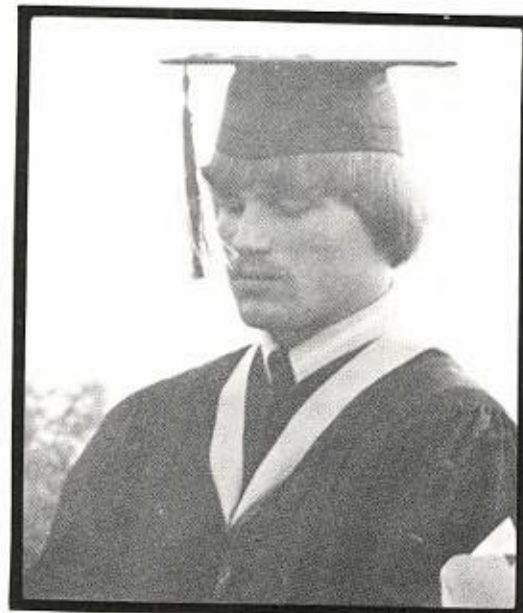

On June 12, 1978, 160 high school seniors, amid deep breaths and hesitant steps, ended their high school years. Thinking of sad farewells and shaky futures, the seniors prayed along with Reverend Kunz and listened to the valedictorian and salutatorian speeches of Wallace Minnich and Debra Peters.

Remembering personal happiness and sorrows of high school, 160 soon-to-be-free (and actually nervous) young men and women walked forward to receive their diplomas, those small cards that allow students to proudly enter the world, ready for whatever awaits them.

As these 160 cautiously turned their tassels in a singular motion, the class once again became a single unit, united in its last efforts; and after the 160 mortarboards landed crazily on the ground, the magical solemnity of the service was broken by graduates and students and families and friends rushing to meet with each other.

and this bird you cannot chain ... - Lynyrd Skynyrd

to the reader

By this time, most readers should realize that the theme of this yearbook is, "notebooks." The staff had a hard time developing a simple, clear-cut theme that would be accepted by everyone; there were just too many varying interests and enthusiasms among our staff, composed of artists, writers, and procrastinators from ninth to twelfth grade. Finally, we realized that as a notebook is a collection of essentials, clippings, scraps, notes, and doodles; so high school life is a highly personal collage of memories from a wide variety of activities, people, and events, an individual experience filled with many varying memories. Our theme was adapted by each member of the staff who worked the idea into his layouts.

Special thanks must go to some people who helped to make this yearbook a success: Brenda Lobach, activities' co-editor; Lisa Yeanish, activities' co-editor and designer of the cover and notebook page artwork; Heather MacCrindle, John Stettner, and Warren Bell, underclassmen co-editors; Jenny Jones, sports' editor; Laurie Krupa, ads' editor; Stef Dilliard and Cindy Chiaradia, seniors' co-editors; Dave Kaul, head of darkroom and photo club; Ellen Yenser, index editor and ads' assistant; John Meckes, main typist of the index; many people who did layouts or typed or ran errands; Mrs. Janice Merkel and Mrs. Betty Parry, who did much behind the scenes work for yearbook members; Mr. Rich Wachter, our Josten's Representative, who helped us solve many of our production problems; Mr. Eugene Gorsky, who observed yearbook procedures each day; administration, faculty, and school board for their cooperation; Miss Sara Miller, who supervised every class and lent experience, time, and much-needed support to a very inexperienced staff; Mr. Dave Ingmundson, who eagerly took over the brand-new experience of advising a yearbook staff, learning and growing with his staff, and giving much of his afterschool time to keep the staff on its feet.

As I finish this final page in our book, I hope that this yearbook presents a simple and satisfying look at the 1977-1978 school year, when the class of '78 were seniors at SHS.

Sincerely,
Debra Peters
Editor, Reflections '78
